If it flies in the face of convention, suppress it. If it contradicts accepted academic dogma, reject it. If it opens minds, condemn it. If it turns history upside down, make sure it never sees the light of day. So has it been down through time. So, it was in the late 1800s when Smithsonian executive John Wesley Powell and his colleagues decided that, for humanity's good, they had best systematically destroy the vast amount of accumulated evidence proving that several Native American Indian tribes were most probably descended from ancient European visitors to the New World. Yes, in the minds of duplicitous psychopaths, destruction is always sanctified by some dubious pretext. Nevertheless, regardless of the blitzkrieg on truth, it is always a day for celebration when nefarious plots are foiled or exposed.

What Are We Here???

Recently, Kay and I were invited to attend a meeting with the leaders of the San Antonio Chapter of MUFON. As we were beginning our meeting, Tater asked the question, "What are we here for?". I responded, "Because you were the one who called this meeting." Of course, I knew what the meeting was all about, however, I couldn't help but ponder over that question this past week.

Texas Metaphysics & QHHT, began as a place for individuals to experience a past life regression and perhaps find the answers to questions about why they married the person they did, questions about alien abductions, etc., etc., etc. Then, I noticed the number of calls and responses to my ads and that is when I decided to create a Meetup Group at Beefy's on the Green here in Spring Branch, to discuss the abductions, the sightings and the paranormal.

Although I put UFOs and the paranormal into the same grouping, neither subject answer the basic question of, "Why are we here?". Doing the reading and research that I have done, I've perhaps come to several conclusions that may answer the question, at least to my own satisfaction.

1. Shamelessly quoting the Beatles, all you need is LOVE. Love is the answer. It is above any other that I or anyone else may come up with. If anybody has an answer that can top LOVE, I'd like to hear it.

2. We are here to learn. Like a school, the Earth school is a very difficult school to complete. If a student should “enroll” in the school and complete all their assignments with a satisfactory grade, then they will proceed to the next level. If, however, they should fail to complete their assignments in a satisfactory manner, then the level will need to be repeated, or even go to a lower level where the fundamentals may be relearned.
3. Karma means that every action has a consequence, and positive actions have positive consequences. Likewise, negative actions have negative consequences. These actions would include anything we do, think, or say. Words and thoughts have power. We must be very careful of our thoughts and words.

When I look at the world around me, I use my own five senses of, sight, hearing, smelling, tasting, and feeling to explore the world around me and to understand my local environment. But, what of the other senses? Telepathy, precognition, retrocognition, psychokinesis (or telekinesis), clairvoyance, and mediumship

I’m pretty sure that most of us have had some sort of experience with these other six senses, there may be others, I don’t know. Occasionally, one may be able to have a sense, a warning of what the day may bring. In my own life, as a junior high student, I made a statement to my friends in Houston that I would, one day, be in an airplane crash in my early thirties. And I was. But I also knew I had to say the words, “But no one will die.”, and no one did die.

Can these be titled as paranormal events? Or are these normal events that we categorize as paranormal because we don’t know how else to call them?

Let’s explore these other six senses taken from Mindvalley, written by Natasha Wanderly.

What Is ESP? Exploring 6 Types Of Extrasensory Perception

In one way or another, it’s likely that you’ve heard of the term “sixth sense.” Whether through the spooky 90s thriller with Bruce Willis, the psychic at your local county fair, or your new-agey aunt.

Although this topic is highly debated in the scientific community, it is oftentimes referred to as “ESP” or extrasensory perception.

What is ESP? Extrasensory literally means “outside the senses” — the 5 senses of sight, touch, hearing, smell, and taste.

ESP is the ability to receive and process information independent of our five senses. Hence, why this phenomenon is often coined a “sixth” sense.

Some sciences say that this information is received through the mind, alone. Yet, other sciences argue that it's perhaps not the mind that transmits this extrasensory perception, but perhaps the gut, the heart, or something even more mysterious.

Whatever this extrasensory perception is, it seems to not be bound to limits of time and space. And it seems to take on several different shapes and forms — from manipulating physical objects, to knowing the thoughts of others, to seeing into the future.

In this article, we will dive deeper into each of these 6 different types of ESP.

However, if you are interested in learning more about these extrasensory powers and how to hone them, check out our all-inclusive guide on intuition.

6 Types of ESP (Extrasensory Perception)

1. Telepathy

Have you ever become so close to someone that it seems like you can tell what they are thinking? Or, have you ever repetitively said the same exact sentences at the same time as another person?

Although you may not be a full-on telepath, if you've experienced this strange phenomenon, then you have a good idea of what telepathy is.

Telepathy is the ability to know another person's thoughts.

A telepath is able to communicate with another person by using only their mind — no other sensory input.

Out of all the different types of extrasensory perception, telepathy is the most researched and the most popular.

2. Precognition

Precognition is the ability to see into the future.

Generally, people who possess the gift of precognition can perceive information about events, people, locations, and scenarios before they actually occur.

Precognition comes from 2 Latin words:

1. Pre, meaning “prior to”
2. Cognito, meaning “getting to know.”

3. Retrocognition

Retrocognition is the opposite of precognition — it’s the ability to see into the past; oftentimes, the distant past. People with this type of extrasensory perception can recognize people, places, and events of the past that they had nothing to do with.

Many people associate this type of ESP with the strange phenomenon of déjà vu.

Retrocognitive people can often describe, in strikingly accurate detail, what specific events in the past were like. And, although science is still wary about the topic, people with these abilities are sometimes used in investigative cases.

Like the word “precognition,” retrocognition comes from two Latin words:

1. Retro, meaning “backward” (retrogress)
2. Cognito, meaning “getting to know.”

4. Psychokinesis (or Telekinesis)

Undoubtedly, you are familiar with this type of ESP from some of your favorite superhero movies.

If you are imagining a superhero tightening up their face and moving their arms around dramatically to violently gravitate objects toward their villain, you are spot on about psychokinesis... Well, sort of.

Alas, real psychokinesis is much less theatrical.

Psychokinesis, or telekinesis, is the ability of one’s mind to have a direct effect on another object without the use of any physical energy.

Coined by Henry Holt, the word “psychokinesis” comes from two Greek words:

1. Psyche, meaning “mind”
2. Kinesis, meaning “movement” or “motion”

The word “telekinesis” translates similarly to mean “distant movement.” Many people use these two words interchangeably.

5. Clairvoyance

Clairvoyance refers to the ability to see information about an object, person, scenario, location, or event in the past, present, or future, using only extrasensory means.

This type of extrasensory perception is generally strongest during practiced meditation but can also happen unintentionally.

The term “clairvoyant” is comprised of two French words:

1. Clair, meaning “clear”
2. Voyant, meaning “seeing”,

As well, there are other variations of this type of ESP, each focuses on a different sense:

- Clairsentience refers to the ability to feel the sensations and emotions of another person, without any external stimulation. This is often paired with paranormal-type activity (like feeling the coldness of a ghost).
- Clairaudience refers to the ability to receive auditory information through psychic and sixth sense hearing.
- Clairaliency refers to a psychic’s ability to pick up on external impressions through the sense of smell.
- Clairgustance is similar to those above; this type of ESP refers to the ability to receive outside information and psychic impressions from the sense of taste (without putting anything in one’s mouth).

6. Mediumship

Mediumship is a form of extrasensory perception that gives most people the “heebie jeebies.”

Essentially, it’s the ability to communicate with the dead by channeling their spirits.

This ability is utilized in a number of different ways (depending on the intentions of the person) and combines several different types of ESP, like clairvoyance and clairaudience.

Warnings, ghosts, alien abductions, etc., these are just some of the “special events” in our lives that may cause one to re-examine the event in closer detail, however, when examined, it may leave us wanting more information for closure.

The World Around Us

The world around us is full of surprises. Is it because it is unnatural or is it because we were just taught to ignore events of other worldly happenings or taught lies to hide the truth and protect fortunes that would otherwise have been lost to the few?

Let’s look at a few examples.

Nikola Tesla

The man who would have given us all free energy had it not been taken from us by greed and power-hungry men. He invented the:

1. The Tesla Coil
2. The Magnifying Transmitter
3. The Tesla Turbine
4. Shadowgraphs
5. Radio
6. Neon Lights

7. Adams Power Plant Transformer
8. The Induction Motor

9. Teleautomaton
10. Alternating Current

Royal Raymond Rife

The End to All Diseases

The work of Dr Royal Rife was not going unnoticed. In November of 1931, The San Diego Evening Tribune reported that Dr. Milbank Johnson, Director of the Southern California American Medical Association, honored Dr. Rife at a banquet held at his own estate in Pasadena, California. Forty-four of the US's most respected doctors from around the country attended. The banquet was fittingly called "The End to All Diseases."

“My father saw the bodies”: chasing the truth about Roswell

The daughter of a US Army officer reveals exactly what her father saw first-hand at the world's most infamous alleged UFO crash site.

Tweet

Early on 8 July 1947, a press release issued by the 509th Bomb Group based in Roswell, New Mexico revealed to the world's media that something incredible had happened: a UFO had crashed in the area, and the United States Army Air Forces was now in possession of a “flying disk”.

The news was issued by 1st Lt. Walter Haut, the public information officer at the base, at the behest of base commander and close personal friend, Colonel William Blanchard.

By day's end, the information was retracted, and a new press release was issued claiming a mistake had been made and that the UFO was, in fact, a crashed weather balloon – a turn of events that made Haut a figure of public ridicule.

“People began to talk about Roswell in the late '70s after several decades of keeping quiet, and I would ask Dad to tell me the whole story, and he told me the same thing he told everybody: ‘I put out the press release’, and nothing else,” says Julie Shuster, Haut's daughter.

Although he was sworn to secrecy by Colonel Blanchard in regards to what he knew about the Roswell incident, Haut devised a way in 2002 to both keep his word and reveal what he knew – by preparing a signed affidavit to be opened after his death.

“Don Schmitt, one of the world’s leading UFO researchers, Dad considered a friend, and we were trying to save the information Dad knew for the future because we were unfortunately losing a lot of the first-hand witnesses,” says Shuster.

One of those lost first-hand witnesses was Major Jesse Marcel, head intelligence officer at the Roswell Army Air Field in 1947 and the first person to arrive at the crash site. Marcel may have left behind a cryptic journal – the subject of the new series Roswell: The First Witness, which premieres 27 July on SBS VICELAND – but Haut was adamant he wanted to leave behind information that was crystal clear.

“Don and I talked to my Dad, and we said ‘Do you want to do a written statement for release after your death?’, and he agreed to it,” Shuster continues. “We were very careful. My Dad was very particular, so he and I went over it word by word, sentence by sentence just to make sure there was no question about what was written.”

After Haut’s death in 2005, the affidavit was published in 2007’s Witness to Roswell: Unmasking the Government’s Biggest Cover-Up, a book co-authored by Schmitt and Thomas Carey.

“Don and I became friends with Walter, and by observing his facial expressions and the way he talked, you’d think, ‘That there is a man keeping a big secret’,” says Carey. “Finally, it all came out in his sealed statement after he died.”

What Haut’s affidavit revealed was that not only was his initial press release about a recovered “flying disk” accurate, but that there were two crash sites at Roswell, and he himself had witnessed first-hand what had fallen from the sky that fateful night in 1947.

“Basically, Dad said yes, he did see the bodies, yes he did see the craft and much more than that,” says Shuster. “At one point I asked him about the size, and he said the craft was about 25 feet in diameter.

“To me, hearing what Dad said was not a surprise because he was very close to Colonel Blanchard. They remained friends for all those years, and I would’ve been very surprised if he had not seen it.”

“Walter confirmed to Don and I that the reason he kept everything a secret is because he promised Colonel Blanchard that he would not divulge the secret while he lived,” confirms Carey. “And he didn’t – he divulged it when he was gone. That’s the reason he kept quiet. It was like a father-son relationship, and he’d promised Blanchard he would not talk.”

After years of carrying a huge, reality-changing secret relating to possibly the biggest and most important cover-up in human history, Haut had finally revealed everything he knew to his daughter, Schmitt, and Carey.

“The ship which he described was about the size of a Volkswagen Beetle, more of an egg-shaped object, and he did see a number of bodies,” says Carey. “He described them as being the size of children. And when asked point blank if what he believed it was that he had seen, without hesitation he'd say, 'It was not from this Earth, it was something manufactured off this Earth.'"

Carey and Schmitt found dozens of other witnesses for their book, each one verifying Haut's claims.

"Those describing the bodies would become very emotional," says Schmitt. "One of the officers involved, he broke down and just said 'I can't get the faces out of my mind.' His wife even told us how they'd been unable to sleep in the same room for almost 30 years because he'd jolt up in the middle of the night and scream and yell out because he kept having flashbacks, because he saw the faces, he saw the bodies.

"We had another officer who was also very traumatized by it, and it reminded him of being a young boy and seeing his uncle in a coffin, of how ashen-grey he looked, and it caused him a lot of post-experience trauma. As one witness put it to us, 'It's the first thing I think of when I get up in the morning, and it's the last thing I think of when I go to bed at night.' You're talking about guys who had just seen the worst horrors of World War II, yet this is the one thing that surpassed the trauma of that."

A Roswell native, Shuster knew several townspeople who had witnessed the crash but were threatened into keeping quiet.

"There was a lady, and her husband and her sister were both involved in the incident, and she wouldn't tell me anything," says Shuster. "Finally, she said to me, 'I'm going to say this once, don't ever ask me or my sister about this again, ever, because we promised my husband on his deathbed that we would never reveal what he told us.' To me, that is such a telling statement – all that over a weather balloon? You're promising your husband on his deathbed that you won't reveal it was a weather balloon? That to me says tons."

Admiral Richard Byrd and the Hollow Earth

Who was this man, widely considered the greatest polar explorer of the twentieth century, Admiral Richard Byrd?

In 1925 there was a singular man on a mission to explore desolate lands rarely seen by humans to that time – Admiral Richard Byrd. He went on to become the single greatest polar explorer of the century, a feat recognized by the American government when they awarded him the "Medal Honor," the highest recognition of achievement for heroism in that country and the greatest military honor.

Admiral Richard Byrd rightly or wrongly is now associated with the hollow earth concept because of some comments that were allegedly made and because of a diary that has been disputed. He was the leading pilot of his time, just missing the headlines and fame of having been the first to claim a trans-Atlantic flight, due to engine troubles; Charles Lindberg's name is now etched in history instead. Byrd was a heroic figure, lauded worldwide as an American pilot, polar explorer, and organizer of polar logistics.

Admiral Richard Byrd referred to Antarctica as “The Land of Everlasting Mystery” and of the North Pole he said: “I’d like to see that land past the North Pole, it is the Center of the Great Unknown.”

According to some, Byrd had actually found an additional world in the Hollow Earth, though his journal was mysteriously removed by the government. What was precisely discovered has always been shrouded in mystery, but it may have been astonishing.

Admiral Richard Byrd created a fantastic reputation in the history of the US Navy. He is considered to have been an extremely brave and honest man. When he spoke out about some of the sights he has seen and experienced, governments were quick to attempt to assassinate his character.

In his journal, Byrd apparently informs readers of having entered into the hollow interior of the earth, along with others and having traveled 1700 miles over mountains, lakes, waterways, green vegetation, and animal life. The outside temperature recorded was 74 degrees F.

His airplane was welcomed by machines of a type he had never actually seen before. His hosts informed him that he had actually been allowed to enter Agartha (their term for the hollow earth) because of his high moral and ethical status. They claimed that to be the protectors of planet Earth – to protect its inhabitants from the scurrilous activities of the power brokers and nefarious government agencies with impure agendas.

After the visit, Byrd and his crew were guided back to the outer area of the Earth. The inquiry that still stays is that Admiral Byrd did make a trip past the post, but this flight wasn’t in February of 1947.

In February of 1947, Rear Admiral Richard Byrd was in charge of a gigantic procedure in the Arctic that was called Operation High jump. High Jump has become a contentious subject among UFO conspiracy theorists, who claim it was a covert US army project to control supposed secret underground Nazi establishments in Antarctica and catch the German Vril flying discs, or Thule mercury-powered spaceship prototypes.

A legend among those in the know was that Adolph Hitler did not die due to a suicide in 1945, but fled to Argentina, to an SS base carved under the ice in New Swabia during the very early 1950s, where he resumed his passion as a painter. According to this account, Operation High Jump, the biggest exploration ever to target the Antarctic, was organized to erase the Nazi presence at the south pole. Some of the Special Reports available at the Hollow Earth Shop confirm the Nazi presence in Antarctica. During WWII, it was a sanctuary for U-Boats and remained one of the few areas in the oceans bereft of a strong Allied military presence.

On February 19, 1947, Rear Admiral Richard Byrd was the Navy official in charge of a gigantic operation in the Arctic, which we have alluded to as Operation High Jump.

Over forty ships, including the Navy’s crown jewel, “Mount Olympus,” the aircraft carrier, “Philippine Sea,” the seaplane tender, “Pine Sea,” the submarine, “Senate,” the destroyer, “Bronson,” the ice breaker, “North Wind,” and other tanker and supply ships. An armed contingent of 1,400 seafarers, and three dog sled teams were likewise aboard. This certainly had more of a military signature rather than an innocent exploration.

In January of 1956, Admiral Byrd led yet another expedition to the South Pole. Admiral Byrd explained that the North and South Poles are just two of several openings into the center of the Earth.

Admiral Forrestal was the first United States Secretary of Defense and among the initial founding members of the Majestic Twelve, an elite group of powerful government and industry leaders who were tasked with keeping an eye on of all alien activity.

William Cooper goes into greater detail in the Special Report titled William Cooper’s Deadly Secrets available under Special Reports. He was killed for his knowledge.

Majestic Twelve (MJ 12) was originally conceived by a man named Jesse Marcel, who had been involved with the first Roswell UFO event. Majestic Twelve (MJ 12) was the alleged code label of a secret committee of experts, military top leaders, and government authorities, supposedly developed in 1947 by an executive order of the then US president, Harry S. Truman.

Forrestal and Byrd got into hot water by thumbing their noses at the authorities who demanded absolute silence. They collaborated in going public with the tales regarding the Roswell accident and the internal planet; some believe Admiral Forrestal was assassinated and within a couple of weeks of Byrd’s self-imposed expatriation, he was likewise dying; his journal was leaked after his death.

See “Admiral Byrd Diary” for more details on what was apparently in his secret diary relating to Admiral Richard Byrd’s expedition of the North Pole.

All this speculation begs the question: Just what happened with Admiral Byrd in the North Pole?

On the 19th of September 1947, the American explorer, Admiral Richard Byrd flew to the South Pole. It has been said that when he returned, he reported exactly what took place during this exploration. Conspiracy theorists have actually interpreted these written remembrances as clear evidence that Richard Byrd did actually uncover an entry to the center of the planet.

People or creatures populating the center of the earth are some incredibly tall and very humanoid creatures that were extremely advanced. The gap in the Antarctic is said to be where these creatures fly out and fly back in. There is a hole presumably allowing a very civilization to dwell inside the world.

Past the South Pole is the great unknown. So said the great explorer, Admiral Richard Byrd.

It is said that there is a US regulation to prevent citizens from checking out caverns and holes in the polar regions.

You are forbidden to enter into a cave with an opening without a federal cave license or a government cavern expert with you. Any type of area with caves are otherwise considered to be on federal government property. Also, it was common knowledge that planes were forbidden to fly directly above the north pole. Why?

In 1964, Dr. Raymond W. Bernard, was a leader of the Rosicrucians, who are members of a worldwide cabal, especially the Ancient Mystic Order, Rosae Crucis and the Rosicrucian Order, focused his research on old magical, philosophical, and religious teachings, concerned with the application of these doctrines to modern life. Dr. Bernard released The Hollow Earth – The Greatest Geographical Discovery in History made by Admiral Richard E. Byrd in the Mysterious Land Beyond the Poles – The True Origin of the Flying Saucers.

As we mentioned above, Admiral Richard Byrd of the United States Navy flew to the North Pole in 1926 and over the South Pole in 1929. The contention continues that Admiral Byrd did make a trip inside the North Pole entrance to the Hollow Earth in 1926.

In January of 1956 Admiral Byrd led an expedition to the South Pole. Admiral Byrd stated that the North and South Poles are only two of numerous openings into the facility of the Earth.

Will this ever be confirmed, given the iron grip on exploration now exercised by governments?

Admiral Richard Byrd proved not only a great explorer who had enough integrity to lead massive explorations of both poles, but sufficient character to tell the world what the government did not want him to reveal. Now, that's a hero.

The Hollow Moon Theory; Is the Moon an Artificial Satellite?

The moon is often described as having divine, feminine energy – the female counterpart to our Sun. It is a source of cosmic phenomena, providing us with beautiful eclipses, changing tides, and hopefully a future staging point for missions to Mars and beyond. But when we start to look at the moon under a closer lens, a number of aberrant characteristics suggest that it might be hollow — and that there may be a secret moon base.

The Moon Rings Like a Bell

The Apollo missions and subsequent moon landings have been at the center of controversy and conspiracy for years. There has been an interminable debate as to whether we actually landed on the moon, what was found there, or to what extent NASA has been hiding information from us. But amid the quarreling and speculation, the number of anomalous features on the moon has puzzled scientists and conspiracy theorists alike.

Toward the latter end of the Apollo missions, NASA astronauts placed seismic recording devices on the lunar surface to document artificial and natural moonquakes. Their equipment recorded activity ranging from meteorite strikes to man-made explosions, and crash landings of Apollo rockets. Even the sun's heat created seismic activity when it caused the moon to thaw on a daily basis.

The astronauts were given a series of ALSEPs, or Apollo Lunar Surface Experiment Packages to set up seismographs and initiate detonations ranging from shotgun-like charges to mortars with multiple grenades. Eventually, NASA intentionally crash-landed the Apollo 12 module as well as the S-IVB rocket setting off an explosive force equivalent to nearly 12 tons of TNT.

What they found was that the moon rings like a bell, reverberating sometimes for hours at a time. Not knowing much about the moon's material composition, NASA and the Apollo astronauts were astounded by what they heard and the results that it entailed. Clearly the moon's density was significantly less than the Earth's.

The Moon is a little more than one-quarter of the size of Earth, another bizarre characteristic compared to any other natural satellite in our cosmic region. Of all the moons in the solar system, ours is the 5th largest. No other planet that we're aware of has a moon that is as proportionately big as ours. All other planets with moons that size are massive gas giants. Neptune, the closest in size with a moon that big, is four times the size of Earth.

The moon is about 2,100 miles in diameter, compared to the Earth's nearly 8,000-mile diameter, yet the mass of the moon is only 1.2 percent of Earth's, while the volume of the moon is only 2 percent of Earth's.

After NASA conducted these tests, it concluded that the moon has a similar composition to our planet, although significantly less dense, with a 31-mile crust of mineral plagioclase, a mantle of olivine and pyroxene, and a very small core of Iron and Sulphur. But when the Apollo astronauts first landed on the moon, they had difficulty drilling into the surface of the craters, which are anomalies in themselves.

Craters are thought to be the result of meteorite and asteroid impacts, meaning there should be a certain proportion between their depth and width. Instead, many wider craters have similar depths to significantly narrower craters, with some even appearing convex. And when astronauts attempted to drill into the craters, they were barely able to penetrate the surface, discovering processed metals like brass, mica, and pure titanium.

The Moon is a Spaceship, A Secret Moon Base?

In 1970, two Soviet astronomers had been studying the satellite and theorized that it was likely a hollow moon put in place by a highly advanced extraterrestrial race. Their theory was based on these observable anomalies, claiming the Moon was an artificial shell that had been inhabited internally for years.

While it might seem farfetched that we are being surveilled by an extraterrestrial race on the moon, or that a hollow Moon may have been intentionally placed in Earth's orbit as a secret moon base, there are a plethora of inexplicable facts about its relationship with Earth. To this day, there are several theories that attempt to explain how the Moon ended up orbiting our planet, though none have been absolutely accepted, leading many to believe that the moon is a spaceship.

Without the moon orbiting precisely where it is, it's possible that life on Earth wouldn't exist, or at least wouldn't have evolved to the point that it has. In fact, it is estimated that less than 10 percent of all terrestrial planets in the universe have an Earth to moon ratio like ours, which provides the stability that is necessary to maintain a climate that can harbor life.

The size of the moon is such that it affects our axial tilt or the way that the Earth wobbles on its axis, changing by a single degree over the course of thousands of years. This relegation to one degree of movement is necessary for climatic stability; without the moon's balance, the Earth could tilt as much as 85 degrees every million years or so, causing drastic changes.

This would adjust the orientation of the Earth to the Sun so significantly that the Sun would shift to be situated directly over the poles rather than the equator where it currently is. Life could not evolve during such radical shifts.

Is the Moon Artificial?

There are two ways that planets typically acquire moons, through accretion or capture. The process of capturing a moon is just like it sounds, a moon will drift into the orbit of a planet and become trapped in its gravitational field.

In the process of accretion, a moon is formed at the same time as the planet from the accretion disk of the solar system. But this theory has been widely dismissed due to the differences in core composition and the fact that the moon is almost a billion years older than the Earth. In fact, the mineral composition of rocks found on the surface of the moon varies drastically from those found on Earth.

The abundance of titanium is one example of such an anomaly, with certain lunar samples containing up to 10 percent of this precious mineral; the highest abundance of titanium-rich minerals on Earth has never exceeded 1 percent. There are other processed metals found on the moon like mica and brass, as well as the presence of radioactive elements like Uranium-236 and Neptunium, none of which are found naturally on Earth.

These moon rocks brought back from the Apollo missions, presented another surprise; they were magnetized. Scientists were baffled, having previously assumed that the moon never had a magnetic field. The Earth's magnetism is thought to be the product of an internal dynamo, in which the rotating, convecting, and electrically conducting liquid iron in the core generates the field. However, the moon wasn't believed to have a core large enough to generate this type of dynamo mechanism.

Hollow Moon Proof?

According to Zulu legend, our hollow moon was put in place by two brothers with scaly, fish-like skin. The legend tells of Wowane and Mpanku, who brought the moon to Earth after stealing it from a great fire dragon. They are said to have emptied out the egg-like satellite of its 'yolk,' subsequently placing it in orbit around the Earth. Prior to this, the planet was said to have been shrouded in a sheath of watery mist, which came raining down to Earth once the moon came into orbit.

Some believe that this deluge of water may be a reference to the great flood that destroyed the antediluvian civilizations. The two brothers mentioned also bear similar characteristics to Enki and Enlil of ancient Sumerian lore, who was responsible for instituting the first civilizations of man and are often depicted wearing fish garb.

Another strange characteristic recorded on the moon from one of Apollo 14's ALSEPs was the presence of a cloud of water vapor on the moon. After 40 years, NASA reported finding the presence of water in rock samples brought back from these missions, stating that the discovery would change how we think about the moon. A further examination showed that this water had twice the levels of a deuterium isotope compared to water found on Earth. Furthermore, they said there was reason to believe that there are 600 million tons of water trapped in craters on the moon.

At the time of the Apollo 14's discovery of water vapor, NASA claimed that it was the result of ruptured water tanks that had leaked Earth water into the atmosphere. This cloud of vapor covered 100 square miles and lingered for 14 hours before dissipating, making NASA's explanation improbable, considering the tanks they were referring to only contained between 60-100 pounds of water.

NASA also claimed that the water from the ruptured tanks simultaneously burst, though they were over 100 miles apart. Why would they make such an absurd claim and why did it take 40 years to analyze and discover water in these rock samples brought back from the Apollo missions?

Could the water be coming from an internal source, perhaps one that NASA doesn't want us to know about?

Disclosure

To divert attention, lies are published over and over again. Already in 1974 before he died in 1977, Werner von Braun, the German-born NASA scientist, told his assistant Carol Rosin the truth about the fabricated alien invasion and weaponization projects the US had in mind. Most of his predictions have since come true. Watch this short video, to better understand what is really going on, and what the ultimate goal is of the Deep State Cabal.

In this video, Dr. Carol Rosin, former NASA scientist and witness with regard to the Disclosure Project, gives very important information. Remember, this was in the year 2000, before 9/11, when the only things that had happened were Oklahoma City and the WTC bombing in '93. By which, the cabal realized that something bigger had to happen.

Understand, these cabal beings don't care anymore. They have been getting away with terror acts for so long that their hubris and outrageous activities have become a sport. They know well that no one in the general public reads anything that is published. If anyone does read it, it is always dismissed as a joke or conspiracy theory, the so-called ridiculing "excuse".

They publish their 2030 Agenda and talk about how the world's population must be reduced by 90%: but also about the use of eugenics and economic terrorism. When sharp reactions come, they say it is a "joke". Their well-paid scholars are the compartmentalized experts, active in every field to manipulate everyone below the top of the pyramid. In short, social engineering.

This group is a gigantic, worldwide intergenerational secret Luciferian occult organization of unimaginable evil, based on ancient Babylonian Talmudism, better known as Baal-worship. Either way, they will never agree to end their reign of terror and monetary hegemony over the world. The only sensible course of action is for them to destroy themselves, which is now happening in real time before our very eyes.

Conclusion and Future Vision

This article makes it clear that governments and banks are criminal enterprises that simply pocket the people's assets and funds.

No normal thinking person wants to experience perpetual wars and planetary destruction, to suffer pain, sorrow, and disease. Still less, the dictatorship that the Cabal exercises on this planet.

These criminal thugs will soon be called to account for their atrocities and crimes. It is they who have plundered humanity, since the very beginning of the Central Banking System and beyond. The day of change for the better will come.

But now, the Deep State Cabal is getting nervous. Their despair is no longer internet talk. The positive changes will benefit the whole populace. In the place of negative events that have overwhelmed and devastated the world until now, positive events are now coming.

In anticipation of this, feel grateful and try to imagine rebuilding our world, in complete freedom, with free energy, unlimited wealth creation, without famine, ending poverty, with creative jobs for the benefit of humanity and the planet.

Embrace the concept that we humans, obtain the means to carry out all that and more. Expansion through innovation and unrestricted initiative, creativity, entrepreneurship, culture, etc. Think about it, for this is the way to make things happen. Be assured that we will overcome and evolve. We are going to fulfil our potential as a human race. What is going to happen now is right on time. In other words, our time.

Extraterrestrial beings exist

Extraterrestrials exist in their worlds just as we do on Earth. But they are many times more developed, more gifted and more advanced. There is no need to be afraid of them, they have never harmed anyone. They have come to help us with advice, but we have to carry it out ourselves. Every night you can observe at least one of their giant spacecrafts.

Unlike the mainstream media and governments who try to make us believe that they are a threat. Extraterrestrials are peaceful loving beings. Their civilization is based on love, compassion, empathy, integrity, wisdom and spirituality.

Unfortunately, extraterrestrial races that are not benevolent or neutral also exist and have settled on Earth. They have been operating on our planet for hundreds of thousands of years, mining gold and enslaving us. They have taken possession of our planet and now want to destroy humanity on earth for good, by means of poisonous Covid injections.

These are negative beings, devoid of compassion and emotion. Luciferians who worship Satan instead of God. They have no respect for our planet, and even less for life on Earth. They are evil ET races including the Darcos' and Grays who oppress and terrorize us humans.

That is why now well-meaning ETs have come to our aid and have sealed off all escape routes from them.

They too have been on Earth for many years and their numbers are growing daily. They have come to expand human consciousness, to guide and awaken humanity. They can make their spaceships visible or invisible at will.

The Earth frequency is undergoing an unprecedented shift from 7.8 Hz to eventually 40 Hz, for transition to higher 5D-ascension. It is a Spiritual evolution leading to the liberation of humanity. This is absolutely unique in the history of the universe.

The Galactic Federation

It is important to know that these extraterrestrial visitors are our brothers and sisters from the star worlds; they are our family of Light. Family always comes to help when it is most needed. They are loving races from different star bodies who work together to help earthly humanity. They are united in the Galactic Federation.

The Galactic Federation is a large group of advanced spiritual beings that watches over the evolution and consciousness on Gaia. Gaia is the ancestral mother of all life on Earth in the Universe.

The Truth Sets Free

They are negative minded beings who know no compassion, respect or love. They worship Satan instead of God. They have no respect for planet Earth, and even less for life on it. They are evil ET races where, among others, the Anunnaki, Draco and Grays have been terrorizing our planet for 500,000 years. That is why well-meaning ET beings have recently landed on our planet and are moving in large numbers in gigantic airships through our skies, to protect us.

In a negative world, it is easier to deceive people than to convince them that they are deceived. – Mark Twain

It is useful to provide an exposé on truth that reflects reality and is comprehensible to the logical and emotional understanding. In today's 3D truth, much has been distorted by the suppression of crucial knowledge. This creates only a limited sense of reality with little depth.

Although, countless different space races exist. The mention of five main groups of higher beings now present on our planet is important. They are present to assist humanity with advice. They come from different Galaxies; they are humanoid races with different visual characteristics.

The Galactic Federation consists mainly of the following five Star Nations: Pleiadeans, Andromedins, Serians, Arcturians and Lyrans. They are highly developed spiritual beings from different worlds who work together as a family of Light.

All these groups have solid connections to planet Earth, and therefore heard our call for liberation from tyranny and oppression. They decided to make themselves known to us and to watch over us and guide our evolution on planet Earth.

People on our planet who hold on to a limited belief that we are the only ones in the universe will have to broaden their minds. There are about a hundred times a hundred billion stars in the universe where human life exists. Think about that.

Since 1945, hundreds of reports of UFO activity have appeared flying over nuclear facilities. These unidentified flying objects, UFOs, have manipulated and neutralized the functions of Earth's nuclear missiles. So that planet Earth will not be hit by nuclear explosions again, as happened in the very distant past.

Newsletter Input - Top

Sometimes, from time to time, we all experience something from the unknown. Our God knows, but we have not a clue as to what it was, and it bewilders us and forces us to do a reality check. We also find that we want to tell someone, anyone, maybe. But who? Do you have a story you want to tell, but do not want to be put on the front stage with all eyes looking at you? Do you get nervous meeting new friends and are fearful that they may think you to be strange and not all “there?” If you would like, please email me with your story. I will read it to see if it has interest for our readers, I may check for spelling and grammar then post it in our newsletter. I can leave your name off if you would like. But I want to hear from our readers.

QHHT Sessions - Top

If you are interested in doing a QHHT session, my current fee is $300 for the entire session. I only do one session per day so that there will be no rush to finish a session before it is natural completion. You will also find that my fees are at the low end of the scale among QHHT® practitioners, to make it more affordable. I’ll send you some paperwork to be filled out when we schedule the appointment, then I’ll send a reminder one or two days prior to the session that will also include my address here in Spring Branch, Texas. Bring the paperwork with you and we can go over it when you get here. A belief in reincarnation is not a requirement for a QHHT® session. Your unconscious mind will take you to the most appropriate time and place in which your questions will be answered.

If you need to call or text me, to ask more questions, I will be more than happy to answer any questions you may have. If the call goes to voice mail, I will call back as soon as I am able. I am retired and hypnosis is the only “work” that I do, so if you need to call or text, do not hesitate. The session can last four to seven hours. This includes a two-hour discussion and a review of the questions you bring with you that you want your unconscious mind to answer, a one-to-two-hour hypnotic session that may include one to three past lives, answers to your questions by your unconscious mind, and a body scan by your unconscious mind. The session is videoed, and an audio file of the session is sent to you via Drop Box.

ABOUT - Top

This newsletter started out as a way to encourage others to meet and tell others of their paranormal experiences. I’ve also included a lot of my own experiences in the previous newsletters, but now, I believe it is time to include other subjects that will help a person to grow and heal, not only in the mind, but also in the body. After all, isn’t that what we all want, to have a healthy mind, body and spirit?

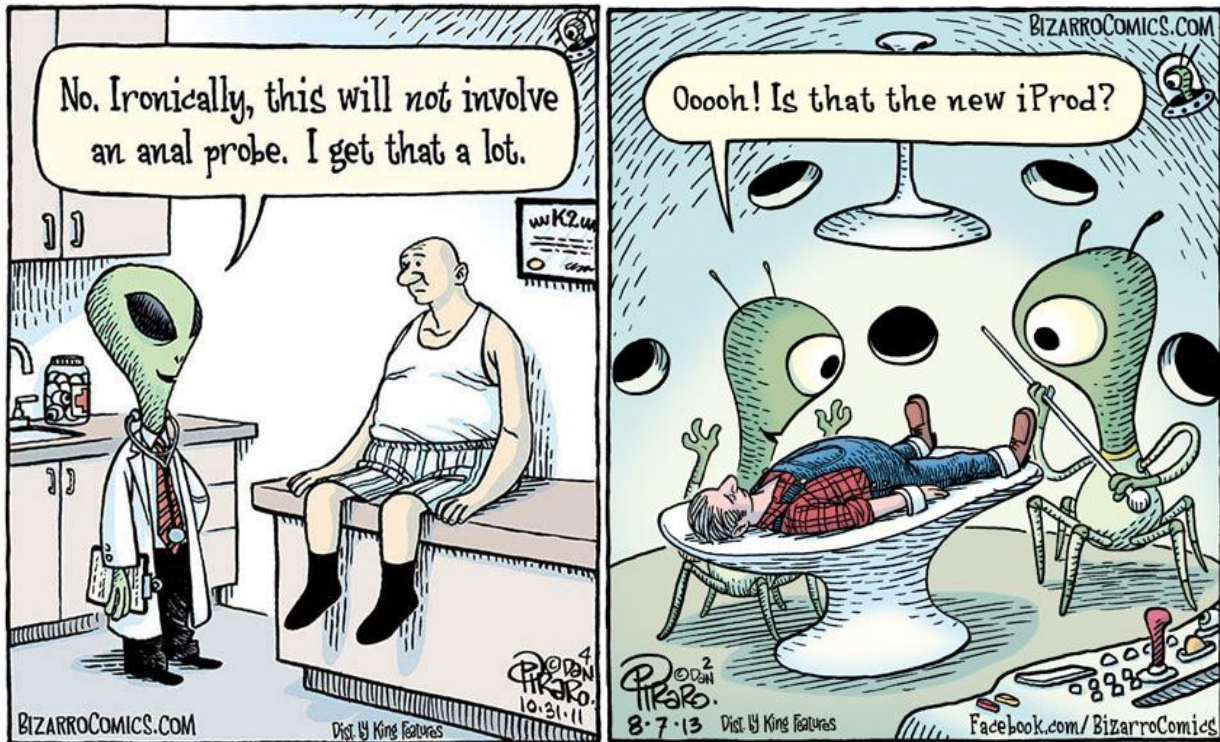

As I research the various topics that I find interesting, I will occasionally dip down into rabbit holes and find nuggets that were completely unexpected. Attending “The Healing Arts Festival & Market”, I also see where people are seeking alternative sources of healing rather than the allopathic medicine in which we have begun to shy away from due to the contraindications associated with their treatments when using questionable pharmaceuticals.

I have found, in my readings, therapies that include frequency, vibration and energy as well as red light therapy. Frequency would be associated with light and sound, as in the Singing Bowls that one may find at the Healing Arts Festival & Market. So, please expect more, and if you believe that I have veered off track and need to come back to center, please let me know. Feedback does help.

Remote Hypnosis Sessions

I do not make any money when someone clicks on the links, and or buys a book. The only money I make is from doing hypnosis.

After having several inquiries as to whether or not I do remote sessions, the answer is, NO! I do not do remote hypnosis over Zoom, Skype or any other telecommunication means. I want to be able to see the client’s eyes and determine the depth of trance they are in, and it cannot be done when watching a screen. It has to be in person.

When calling to make an appointment, the caller must be the one who is wanting the session. I need to talk with the potential client, because the client will need to acknowledge that they desire the Hypnosis Session and are willing to follow directions to be led into hypnosis.
